Mapping SDG reporting priorities through materiality

Twelve materiality issues were selected by classifying important issues from the perspective of impacts on all stakeholders and on the Tomoku Group.

Global environment conservation
Strengthening governance
Diversifying of human resources and respect for human rights

Safety and security of products and servicesDevelopment of local communities

High

Compliance with fair trade

Engagement with stakeholders

Information disclosure

Risk management for large-scale disasters, pandemics etc.

Response to climate change

Conservation of biodiversity

Respect for human rights

Corporate governance, Compliance

Improving the safety, security and reliability of products and services, Safe and secure delivery, Comfortable and attractive living environment

Human resources training and development

Contribution to and dialogue with local communities

Information security measures

Social contribution activities

Occupational health and safety in the workplace

Work style reform, Improvement of employee satisfaction, D&I promotion

Supply chain management

Management and reduction of waste and hazardous materials

The influence on stakeholder assessments and decision

The significance of economic, environmental and social impacts

High